Consent to release Personal Medical Information

Under the terms of the Access to Medical Reports Act, 1988 you have the right to withhold your consent for this Institution to apply to your family doctor or hospital specialist for medical information. If you give your consent you have the right to see information about your medical condition before it is supplied. You will have 21 days from the date of the letter notifying you that a medical report has been requested in which to ask your family doctor or hospital specialist to let you see the report. Your family doctor or hospital specialist will let you know if you cannot see any part of the report for professional reasons. If you are given access to your report your family doctor or hospital specialist will not send it to you until you give your consent. If you regard any information in the medical report as incorrect or misleading, you can ask in writing for it to be amended.

[Please note: if your family doctor or hospital specialist does not accept that the information is incorrect or misleading, they are of course not required to make any amendment; but in these cases your family doctor or hospital specialist will invite you to prepare a written statement on the disputed information which will be attached to the medical report when it is sent.]

Subject to the provisions of the Act, you have a right to see information about your medical condition for up to 6 months after it has been sent. If your family doctor or hospital specialist gives you a copy of the medical report at your request, they may charge you a reasonable fee to cover the cost of supplying it.

If admitted as a Brother, this will give us permission to approach your GP when we consider it necessary as a duty of care.
